
Call for applications: opening of an associate/assistant professor position at ESCP Europe Business School, Paris Campus

We are looking for a candidate with a genuine interest and track record in Supply Chain and Operations Management who will actively contribute to teaching and research in these areas. Teaching should address different audiences, from undergraduate to executives. We prefer candidates who have already published in international journals, whose research combines rigor with relevance, and who have a good fit with the requirements of a modern Business School.

Requirements

All candidates should publish in top-quality academic journals. Teaching is expected in undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate programmes as well as in executive education.

The teaching language will be mostly in English, although being able to teach in French may be a plus. Furthermore, candidates should demonstrate skills in developing relationships with companies, professional organizations, media and social networks so to contribute to expand and strengthen the reputation of ESCP Europe and its programs.

Depending on the eligibility and qualification of the candidate, we would consider either an associate or an assistant professor position. Even if an outstanding doctoral dissertation is required for the application, we will also consider candidates who are in the final stage of their doctoral thesis.

Applications should include: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a list of publications, 4) a statement of teaching and research interests, 5) teaching evaluations from the past two years (if applicable), 6) Four references, both scholars and /or professionals (please include their contact details).

Please submit your application by March 31, 2019, in electronic form as one PDF file, addressed to the contact person below. If you would like to send papers, books or any additional material in print, please note that documents cannot be returned.

About ESCP Europe

Established in 1819, ESCP Europe, the world's first business school, was founded by a group of economic scholars and businessmen including the well-known economist Jean-Baptiste Say. ESCP Europe is among the first business schools in Europe to have earned the three prestigious labels of excellence from the world's leading accrediting bodies: EQUIS (1998), AMBA (1998) and AACSB (2003). ESCP Europe offers various programs ranging from Bachelor to PhD, across 6 European campuses (Paris, Berlin, London, Madrid, Turin, Warsaw). It has more than 5000 students (Degree programs), 5000 Participants in Executive Education, a network of 55 000 alumni, and a faculty of 130 permanent professors. Regularly occupying top spots in both national and international rankings, ESCP Europe counts among the most prestigious and leading business schools in Europe.
