

Call for Papers

EIBA-Workshop 'How to craft an IB paper'

October 13, 2023

GRM-lab, IAE Nice, Université Côte d'Azur, France

The European International Business Academy (EIBA), in collaboration with IBR (International Business Review) and JAMI (Journée d'Automne du Management International), is organizing an EIBA-Workshop on 'How to craft an IB paper' at the GRM-lab, IAE Nice, Université Côte d'Azur, France.

This workshop is part of the JAMI series (and organized as the 4th 'Journée d'Automne du Management International'), which aims to bring together doctoral students and junior and senior scholars in International Business in the South of France. The EIBA-W is open to all scholars from around Europe and the world, particularly targeting early-career IB scholars.

The EIBA-W is organized as a workshop that helps craft and develop academic papers and includes feedback from renowned scholars and editors in International Business. The objective is to provide doctoral students and junior IB scholars the opportunity to craft academic papers, discuss working papers with senior IB scholars, and gain advice from journal editors. All sessions are interactive, and participants will receive constructive feedback to help develop their papers for IB conference and journal submissions.

We particularly invite doctoral students and junior IB scholars to submit working paper proposals to the EIBA-W. Participants without submissions are also welcome. All participants will benefit from helpful guidance provided by senior IB scholars and journal editors as well as networking opportunities.

Working paper proposals (both conceptual and empirical papers are welcome) should be submitted in English (6,000-12,000 words, including references; double-spaced and in PDF format) by June 15, 2023, on the platform: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/C9C3H5G>
